

Jennifer Parker, PA-C

Jennifer Parker joined the Board of Directors of the National Commission on Certification of Physician Assistants (NCCPA) in 2017 as a PA Director at Large. She serves as Board Secretary. She also serves on the Compensation Committee and Specialty Certification/CAQ Mega Issue Team, and she serves on the nccPA Health Foundation Board of Directors.

Parker is Clinical Director of the Barbour Community Health Association in West Virginia. She practices Family Medicine and also serves the organization as the Director of Quality & Risk Management and Patient Centered Medical Home (PCMH) Transformation Manager.

She is a member of the American Academy of PAs, West Virginia Association of Physician Assistants, National Association of Community Health Centers and National Rural Health Association.

Parker graduated from the Alderson-Broaddus College Physician Assistant Studies Program and has been maintained certification since her graduation in 1997. She is currently pursuing her Masters of Health Administration from George Washington University.